POSITION 11 | WINE

Vinsura

Indiavinsura

DESCRIPTION

Vinsura is an Indian winery at Vinchur Wine Park in the Nashik Valley. Its official portfolio names

Cabernet Sauvignon, Zinfandel and Syrah among its red grapes, and Sauvignon Blanc, Chenin Blanc and Symphony among its white grapes; the exact grape, vintage and style belong to each bottle.

BRAND STORY

Vinsura was established by farmers and is based in Nashik, Maharashtra. Keep wine records separated by grape, colour, vintage, bottle size and city price so a portfolio-level description is not mistaken for a tasting note for every release.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Portfolio range: The listed grapes cover both red and white wine styles, so one brand-level aroma or body claim would be misleading.

What to compare: Read the individual label for grape, vintage, sweetness, strength and serving temperature.

Editorial guardrail: No award, vintage, alcohol percentage or current availability is added unless it is attached to the exact bottle record.

WHY CHOOSE

Useful for readers comparing Nashik wines by grape, colour, vintage, bottle size and verified city price.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Serve the exact wine at the temperature stated on its label in a clean wine glass.

Pair: Pair a fresh white with grilled vegetables or tomato pasta; pair a fuller red with tandoori chicken or roast lamb.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability before relying on a local listing.

PAIRING IDEAS

•grilled vegetables

•tomato pasta

•tandoori chicken

•roast lamb

FAQS

What is Vinsura?

Vinsura is an Indian wine producer based at Vinchur Wine Park in the Nashik Valley.

What should I check on a Vinsura bottle?

Check the grape, colour, vintage, bottle size, stated strength and local price date for the exact release.

LOGO AND IMAGE AUDIT

POSITION 12 | WORLD WHISKY

Suntory Toki

DESCRIPTION

Suntory Toki is a Japanese blended whisky from House of Suntory, made from whisky from Suntory's

Yamazaki, Hakushu and Chita distilleries. The official profile highlights orchard fruit, green herbal notes, gentle smoke, rich grain and soft sweetness.

BRAND STORY

Toki is presented as a bright, highball-friendly Japanese blend. The bottle record should still carry its own strength, size, market price and current availability rather than inheriting assumptions from another

Toki expression.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Producer profile: The official tasting description points to orchard fruit, green herbs, gentle smoke, rich grains, soft sweetness and spice.

What to compare: Check the exact bottle size, declared strength, market label and local availability.

Editorial guardrail: Do not merge Toki with other House of Suntory brands or treat a highball serve as a product specification.

WHY CHOOSE

A clear entry point for readers comparing Japanese blends built for a long, refreshing serve.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Try a small neat pour first, then use a chilled highball with plenty of ice and dry soda.

Pair: Pair the highball with yakitori, tempura, grilled mushrooms or lightly spiced snacks.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

•yakitori

•tempura

•grilled mushrooms

•lightly spiced snacks

FAQS

What is Suntory Toki?

Suntory Toki is a blended Japanese whisky from House of Suntory.

How is Toki commonly served?

The producer recommends a highball-style serve; a small neat pour is useful for comparison before dilution.

POSITION 13 | SINGLE MALTS

Hakushu

Japanhakushu

DESCRIPTION

Hakushu is a Japanese single malt whisky from House of Suntory's mountain forest distillery, established in 1973 in the Southern Japanese Alps. The official house style is described as gently smoky and herbal, while age, strength and expression vary by bottle.

BRAND STORY

Hakushu belongs in a dedicated single-malt page because its age statements and bottlings are not interchangeable. Keep the exact expression, bottle size, strength and city price attached to each product record.

House style: The official page describes a gently smoky, herbal character associated with the mountain forest distillery.

What to compare: Separate Distiller's Reserve, age-stated and other bottlings instead of combining them.

Editorial guardrail: Do not infer age, cask, proof or awards when they are not present on the individual label.

WHY CHOOSE

A strong guide entry for readers exploring Japanese single malt by expression, age statement and local availability.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Begin neat in a clean tulip glass; add a few drops of water only if the exact bottling benefits from it.

Pair: Pair with sushi, grilled fish, roasted vegetables or a mild cheese plate.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

•sushi

•grilled fish

•roasted vegetables

•mild cheese

FAQS

What is Hakushu?

Hakushu is a Japanese single malt whisky made at House of Suntory's Hakushu distillery.

Is every Hakushu bottle the same?

No. Expression, age statement, strength and bottle format must be checked separately.

POSITION 14 | WORLD WHISKY

Ao

Japanao

DESCRIPTION

Ao is a world whisky from House of Suntory, blended from whisky traditions in Ireland, Scotland,

America, Canada and Japan. The official profile describes smoky notes, fruit, creamy sweetness, spice and wood, with the five-sided bottle reflecting the five whisky regions.

BRAND STORY

Ao gives BevOry a distinct entry for a multi-region blend. The exact bottle record must still state the local label, size, strength and price because those details cannot be transferred from one market or release to another.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Published profile: The official description combines fruit and creamy sweetness with smoke, cinnamon and woody notes.

What to compare: Check the exact market label, declared strength, bottle size and any stated release detail.

Editorial guardrail: Do not attribute the profile of another Suntory blend to Ao.

WHY CHOOSE

Useful for readers looking beyond single-country whisky and comparing a multi-region blend by serve and city.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Try a measured neat pour first, then compare it with a restrained highball.

Pair: Pair with grilled meats, soy-glazed dishes, roasted nuts or dark chocolate.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

•grilled meats

•soy-glazed dishes

•roasted nuts

•dark chocolate

FAQS

What is Ao whisky?

Ao is a world whisky blend from House of Suntory using whisky from five regions.

How should Ao be compared?

Compare the exact expression, strength, bottle size, serve and local price rather than a generic category label.

POSITION 15 | JAPANESE WHISKY

Kakubin

Japankakubin

DESCRIPTION

Kakubin is a Suntory Japanese blended whisky made from whisky associated with the Yamazaki, Hakushu and Chita distilleries. The official profile lists lemon, green apple, butter cookie and hazelnut, followed by popcorn, dried coconut and baked almond notes.

BRAND STORY

Kakubin has a clear highball role, but its catalogue record still needs the exact market bottle, strength, size and city price. A long serve should not erase the underlying product facts.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Published profile: The official tasting notes move from lemon, green apple, butter cookie and hazelnut to popcorn, dried coconut and baked almond.

What to compare: Check bottle format, strength, current label and local price date.

Editorial guardrail: Do not reuse tasting notes for other Suntory blends.

WHY CHOOSE

A practical Japanese whisky entry for readers who want a brand-level guide plus a highball-focused serve.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Taste a small measure neat, then try a highball with cold soda and a large clear ice cube.

Pair: Pair with yakitori, fried chicken, grilled vegetables or salty snacks.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

•yakitori

•fried chicken

•grilled vegetables

•salty snacks

FAQS

What is Kakubin?

Kakubin is a Japanese blended whisky label from Suntory.

What is Kakubin commonly used for?

It is commonly associated with a highball serve, but the exact bottle and local availability should still be checked.

POSITION 16 | BOURBON

Knob Creek

United Statesknob-creek

DESCRIPTION

Knob Creek is an American bourbon brand from Suntory Global Spirits. Its official range includes a 9 Year Old bourbon at 100 proof, with a full-bodied profile built around oak, vanilla and caramel; other expressions can differ in age and proof.

BRAND STORY

The brand is best organised expression by expression. Do not move a 9-year or single-barrel tasting note onto every Knob Creek product, and keep bottle size, proof and city price on the matching variant.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Signature reference: The official 9 Year Old profile points to robust oak, vanilla and caramel in a full-bodied bourbon.

What to compare: Separate standard, single-barrel and higher-proof releases by age, proof and bottle format.

Editorial guardrail: No single Knob Creek note should represent the entire range.

WHY CHOOSE

A useful bourbon page for comparing age statements, proof and oak-led styles without merging variants.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Serve a modest pour neat in a rocks glass, add a little water if preferred, or use a measured whiskey cocktail.

Pair: Pair with barbecue, blue cheese, roast meats or pecan desserts.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

POSITION 17 | BOURBON

Basil Hayden's

United Statesbasil-haydens

DESCRIPTION

Basil Hayden's is an American bourbon brand from Suntory Global Spirits, known for a high-rye style.

The official Kentucky Straight Bourbon profile lists charred oak, vanilla, caramel, dried fruit, brown sugar and black pepper at 80 proof; other releases have their own details.

BRAND STORY

Basil Hayden's should be compared by expression because age, proof and maturation differ across the range. Keep the high-rye identity separate from any claim about a particular 10-year or limited bottling.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Signature reference: The official 80-proof profile names charred oak, vanilla caramel, dried fruit, brown sugar, black pepper and a lingering oak finish.

What to compare: Separate the core bourbon, 10 Year and other releases by proof, age and label.

Editorial guardrail: Do not transfer the core profile or 10-year details to another expression.

WHY CHOOSE

A clear high-rye bourbon entry for readers comparing approachable proof, oak and spice by exact bottle.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Start neat or over one large cube, then use a measured serve in an Old Fashioned-style drink.

Pair: Pair with smoked chicken, roasted nuts, apple dessert or aged cheddar.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

Gentleman Jack

United Statesgentleman-jack

DESCRIPTION

Gentleman Jack is a Tennessee whiskey from the Jack Daniel Distillery in Lynchburg, Tennessee. The official fact sheet describes a recipe using corn, rye, barley malt and limestone-filtered water, with charcoal mellowing before and after aging and an 80-proof bottling.

BRAND STORY

This expression deserves its own page instead of being folded into a generic Jack Daniel's listing. Keep the classic bottle separate from other Tennessee whiskey releases and attach every price to its exact size and city.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Published profile: The official material describes light amber colour with vanilla, caramel, almond, fruit and a gentle smoky finish.

What to compare: Check the exact bottle size, strength, market label and current local listing.

Editorial guardrail: Do not copy Gentleman Jack notes onto Old No. 7, Single Barrel or flavoured releases.

WHY CHOOSE

A distinct Jack Daniel's-family page with the double-mellowed process and core bottle details kept separate from other releases.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Serve a small pour neat or over ice, or use it in a balanced whiskey highball.

Pair: Pair with barbecue, fried chicken, smoked cheese or pecan pie.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

PAIRING IDEAS

•barbecue

•fried chicken

•smoked cheese

Courvoisier

Francecourvoisier

DESCRIPTION

Courvoisier is a Cognac house founded in 1828 in Jarnac, at the heart of France's Cognac region. Its official collection spans VS, VSOP, XO and other releases; the VSOP page describes a four-cru blend with stone fruit, jasmine and gingerbread notes.

BRAND STORY

Cognac records should stay separated by category, blend, maturation, bottle size and city price. The house identity is useful context, but a VSOP note must not be applied to XO, VS or a special blend.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

House reference: The official VSOP profile names mature stone fruit, summer jasmine and gingerbread, with eaux-de-vie from four crus.

What to compare: Separate VS, VSOP, XO and special blends by stated category, blend and maturation.

Editorial guardrail: Awards, age and cru claims remain product-specific and are not copied across the house.

WHY CHOOSE

A strong Cognac house page that makes category and maturation the primary comparison points.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Serve a modest measure in a tulip glass, or use a younger style in a measured Sidecar-style cocktail.

Pair: Pair with dark chocolate, roast duck, dried fruit or aged cheese.

Local check: Check BevOry for reviewed city-level prices and availability.

POSITION 20 | TEQUILA

Hornitos

Mexicohornitos

DESCRIPTION

Hornitos is a tequila brand from the Sauza family, with products made from blue agave grown and harvested in Jalisco, Mexico. The official Reposado page describes 100% blue agave, double distillation and resting in American white oak, with apple, herbal and lightly woody notes.

BRAND STORY

Hornitos should be organised by Plata, Reposado, Añejo, Cristalino and other expressions rather than as one generic tequila. Maturation, sweetness, bottle size, strength and city price belong to the exact product record.

TASTING NOTES AND STYLE

Reposado reference: The official Reposado profile lists fine agave, green apple and herbal aromas, balanced agave with light wood and a warm finish.

What to compare: Keep Plata, Reposado, Añejo and Cristalino separate by maturation, style and label.

Editorial guardrail: Do not use a Reposado note for an unaged or longer-aged expression.

WHY CHOOSE

A useful tequila guide entry because it keeps blue-agave production and maturation visible at product level.

HOW TO ENJOY

Serve: Use a measured pour in a Margarita or Paloma, or taste the exact style neat from a small glass.

Pair: Pair with salsa, grilled corn, tacos or citrus-led salads.
